

BRITISH IN DRIVE MAKE GOOD GAINS

BRITISH MEET STRENUOUS RESISTANCE AT HANDS OF THE GERMANS BUT FINALLY FORCE HUNS TO RETIRE.

MAKE COUNTER-ATTACK

British Airmen and Tanks Play An Important Part in the Success of Drive—Counter-attacks Are Repulsed.

British troops have captured the high ground in Bourlon Woods and now dominate the region about Cambrai. This success came after two days' fighting and its importance is indicated in part by the thought that German traffic out of Cambrai has been heavy, the probability being that the civilian population of the town has been removed.

Byng's Bang. General Byng's latest triumph was one of hard and heroic endeavor. In paying tribute to the third army, Field Marshal Haig declared the capture of the Bourlon Woods as a most successful operation and opening the way to the further exploitation of advance already gained. Apparently the British commander will push his advantage to the limit and defeat Cambrai which is three miles to the east.

Village Changes Hands. Bourlon village changed hands three times in the desperate battle for possession of it. Several fighting continued there and the Germans massed their best troops in an effort to retrieve the position which means all to the security of Cambrai, thrust back the British and the village was captured. General Byng's men withstood the attack on the wood and holds the high ground intact. They also have been heavy fighting west of Mours and southeast of Quenne.

Line Broken. In six days General Byng and their third army have broken the Hindenburg line, taken a score of villages and secured the dominating position of Cambrai and overrun territory equal in area to that gained in the first three months of the drive in the Ypres salient.

Nearly 10,000 prisoners, 100 guns and much war material has been captured.

French Advances. More important still, probably, is the further advance to which Field Marshal Haig refers in his congratulatory message.

Around Verdun, the pivot point of the German line in France, the French have fought in which the French have been victorious.

After repulsing a strong German attack on the right bank of the Meuse, near Hill 344, the French attacked the enemy on a front of more than two miles in the same region. They occupied the first and second German lines and captured more than eight hundred prisoners.

Headquarters in France. This morning found the line of battle of the weary but determined British troops stretched out in a semi-circle about Bourlon woods and Bourlon village which nestles at the southwestern edge of the forest. It was a line which had been established in the face of dogged resistance on the part of the Germans who had in fact been step by step, fighting with the fury of defeat.

All day yesterday the opposing forces struggled bitterly at Bourlon for possession of the little village from which the British were forced Friday after gaining a footing in the rush which took them through Bourlon Wood.

Press Forward. Nightfall still found waves of infantry surging back and forth through the streets of the hamlet and among the houses their crimson bayoneted rifles were being raised. Gradually the Germans fell back, the British pressing forward with grim persistence which the enemy could not withstand and the victory was finally cleared of the major portion of the German troops. Today some few of the enemy still remained in Bourlon to be mopped up but all the main streets of the place had been cleared and the British were in a strong force of British soldiers.

Rifle and Bayonet. A little to the southeast of here an intense struggle was being staged in the village of Mours where the British had battled their way with rifle and bayonet and pushed the Germans out of the southern half. Elsewhere along the Cambrai front there was no infantry action of importance. Prisoners continue to arrive at the British camps from the front. Nearly 10,000 captives thus far have been counted, including 200 officers.

Strategic Importance. The Bourlon position also overlooks Cambrai but this city might be a hard nut to crack because the central part is walled and many suburbs radiate from it forming a natural barrier against an advance from the west. It seems possible Cambrai might ultimately become a sort of no man's land, dominated by the big guns of both sides and this ancient town with its fine old cathedral and picturesque wall would be the way of so many other places which come under fire.

German Counter-Attack. A large amount of traffic in the last few days has been pouring out of Cambrai toward the southeast, indicating the Germans have evacuated the civilian population and preparing for eventualities.

No Repeat. The Germans have not repeated their attacks on the Bourlon positions west of Cambrai since their failure of yesterday, Field Marshal Haig reports today.

BRITISH FORCES NEAR JERUSALEM

Advancing from the south, the British forces in Palestine under General Allenby have reached the Wadi Surar, which is on a line with Jerusalem. Their new position immediately covers Jaffa, the coast (thirty-two miles), a straight line from the Holy City, and the railway junction on the route to Jerusalem.

INQUIRY AMENDMENT MADE BY COMMISSION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison, Wis., Nov. 26.—Amendment to the inquiry form for employers carrying their own risk under the workmen's compensation law have been made by the industrial commission of the state. The questions formerly asked had to do with the financial condition of the employer rather than being pertinent to the accident liabilities. The five new questions follow:

1. Are you accumulating an accident fund? In what way?
2. What arrangements have you made for first aid to injured employees?
3. What hospital facilities have you for injured employees?
4. To what surgeon will you send your injured employees?
5. This is the nature of your contract with this surgeon?

A paragraph setting forth the things the employer agrees to do has been inserted. It reads as follows: "In consideration of exemption from the insurance requirement of the workmen's compensation act, I hereby agree: (1) That I will discharge no employee for compensation to injured employees or their dependents in accordance with the requirements of the workmen's compensation law. (2) That I will not solicit, receive or collect any money from my employees or make any deduction from their wages for the purpose of discharging any part of my liability under the workmen's compensation act and that I will not permit any person with my knowledge to sell or try to sell medical or hospital treatment required by law to be furnished by me to injured employees. (3) If so required by the industrial commission, I will secure a release of liability in any case in which compensation payments have been extended or will extend over a period of six months or more from date of injury (or at any time in death benefit cases). In the manner provided in Section 2384-28 of the Statutes. (4) I am not securing this exemption for the purpose of taking out a deductible average insurance policy."

DECLARES THAT U. S. SHOULD DECLARE WAR

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Nov. 26.—Declarations of war against Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria, Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee, declared today, seemed exceedingly advisable to simplify a situation anomalous.

"We are in fact," he said, "now at war with Germany's allies."

PRICE OF PAPER IS FIXED BY FEDERAL COMMISSION TODAY

New York, Nov. 26.—News print paper manufacturers, representing 86% of the print paper output in the country will sell news print, to publishers at 3c per pound until April 1 and after that at a price to be fixed by federal trade commission under agreement reached today between the government and six of seven paper manufacturers charged with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The States Judge Mayer signed a decree under which the new print manufacturers' association whose executive committee included five of the seven defendants was dissolved. This decree however does not take away from the defendant the right to operate between now and April in placing facts before the federal trade commission as a basis for the price to be fixed.

MANY CONTRACTORS ARE BREAKING CODE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Nov. 26.—S. J. Williams, engineer of the industrial commission, in a statement issued today, calls attention to several instances, which have occurred recently of the collapse of buildings due to poor construction and violations of the state building code. Last week a one-story building intended for a garage collapsed at Belleville, injuring six persons employed thereon, including the contractor who have never before been employed by the industrial commission. The owner of the building was constructing the walls of the building and the overhead trusses were too thin and the floor joists were not properly spaced. A similar accident occurred a short time previously at Black Earth.

"I am convinced that there are more instances of the collapse of buildings in construction than we never hear of," said Mr. Williams. "Unless lives are lost or workmen are seriously injured, the contractors and owners responsible for such poor construction do everything possible to cover up these disasters. The principal reason why buildings so often collapse is poor construction of long span trusses and beams. Contractors who have never before taken any work of this character under the same without securing advice from any qualified source. These contractors even claim to be architects and engineers and profess that they never heard of the state building code."

HELL-FIRE TROOPS PREPARE FOR HUNS

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.] Washington, Nov. 26.—The Thirtieth Engineers, Gas and Flame Troop, known as the "Hell-Fire Battalion," are preparing to fight fire with fire. Under the direction of English military experts important tests are being made at the "Hell-Fire" training camp at the American university. While the exact nature of their training necessarily is kept secret, there is no denial of the fact that the men are learning tricks of the lighters' trade which will enable them to beat Hun flameprojectors at their own game.

Promises of immediate service in Europe has attracted to the outfit men of all callings, but particularly those with training in chemical and mechanical engineering, explosive and gas manufacture, plumbing and carpentry. Because of the need for specialist material, all recruiting has been put on a volunteer basis.

Major E. J. Atkinson, a West Point and Cornell graduate and engineering expert, heads the "Hell-Fire" Battalion.

GOVERNMENT MAY AID IN BOMB PROBE

CONGRESSMAN W. J. CARY SENDS MESSAGE TO WASHINGTON ASKING FOR FEDERAL AID IN MILWAUKEE BOMB INVESTIGATION.

PLAN NEW LEGISLATION

Plan to Give Local Police Department Power to Take Drastic Actions in Running Down the Crime.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Milwaukee, Nov. 26.—A federal probe of the tragedy at the central station Saturday night in which ten persons lost their lives from a bomb explosion is demanded by Congressman W. J. Cary in a message sent to the chief of investigation, department of justice at Washington.

In his message Mr. Cary says there is no doubt the affair was perpetrated by Italian outlaws who have terrorized Milwaukee in the past and asks that a sufficient number of investigators be sent to Milwaukee to run down the persons responsible for the calamity.

Plan Drastic Action. Mr. Cary said today he would introduce new legislation immediately when Congress convenes in December to give the local police department power to take drastic action in running down the perpetrators of this crime. He also asks the federal agents to co-operate with the local authorities and clear the district of these men.

National Importance. Mr. Cary said that from his former connection with the county jail as sheriff he realized the local authorities were unable to cope with the great nest of outlaws and I. W. Y. of which the Milwaukee case is a part. He said that the affair has become one of such national importance that greater power should be granted the federal agents to co-operate with the local authorities and clear the district of these men.

Ten Victims. It has just been officially announced that there were only ten victims of the bomb instead of eleven as at first supposed. Captain Sullivan said he was satisfied that Sam Mazzone, who brought the bomb to the station, was unattended and not with another boy as was at first thought. Besides the nine officers one girl lost her life.

Police Search. Captain Smith said this forenoon he had dug up some important evidence but it would not be policy to divulge the information at this time. The police are holding three suspects whom they will question and endeavor to connect in some way with the crime.

APPROPRIATIONS ARE PLANNED BY CONGRESS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Nov. 26.—Continued stupendous appropriation bills and other war legislation will feature the legislative programs of the session of congress which is to open December 3 and probably run on until autumn, in the opinion of leaders here today. In the wake of these right of way measures a host of others of domestic concern like prohibition and woman suffrage, will be pressed for consideration.

Sentiment developed among representatives already here in favor of declaration of war against Bulgaria's allies, Austria, Turkey and Germany, doubtless will be strengthened by the party of congress about to return from a visit to the battle fronts. There is expectation that the president may deal with the subject in his opening address to the joint session of congress.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Nov. 26.—In the twelve years that the inheritance tax law has been in operation $5,593,342.85 has been collected to the state, according to a report which has just been compiled by the Wisconsin tax commission and filed with the governor. John Harrington, counsel for the tax commission in inheritance matters, estimates that within a year there will be an increase of from 20 to 30 percent in the revenues from this law due to the amendments made by the last legislature increasing the rates of taxation. The total amount of inheritance taxes collected during the past year was $860,779.30.

The last session of the legislature increased the rates of all the way from 10 to 40 percent, depending on the relationship of the person to the decedent. Mr. Harrington has just completed the settlement of the tax in the estate of C. R. Smith, Menasha, who left an estate of over $3,000,000. The amount which came to the state in inheritance taxes was over $84,000. He is now working on the inheritance tax in the estate of E. C. Putnam of Eau Claire, who left an estate of over $1,000,000.

NO LET-UP TO FIGHTS IN ITALY, REPORT

ALLIED FORCES CONTINUE TO DRIVE BACK THE GERMAN-AUSTRIAN FOE.

BATTLES STILL RAGING

Slight Gains Reported at Various Places Along the Line of Defense of the Italians in Italy.

From Lake Garda to the Adriatic the Italians continue to hold the inviolable Austro-german line, checking the enemy's westward drive. Finding it impossible to break through the line directly west of the Piave river, the enemy has been making strong attacks on the Osego plateau where he was defeated last week in an attempt to encircle the important Monte Eiletta position. The fighting has been most severe, the Italians meeting attacks with counterattacks. West of the plateau, between the Brenta and the Piave, only artillery has been active.

Not Successful. Along the Piave the Germans are showing signs of activity, but their efforts have not been fruitful. Attempts to cross the river were crushed as the Italian artillery fired.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Northern Italy, Nov. 26.—The correspondent was on a tour of the northern fighting front where the great battle is continuing with violence. Major General Gorgio was found commanding the extreme left of the fourth army at the point where the fighting was heaviest. Throughout yesterday and today the battle in the mountain has developed in a succession of attack and counter-attack with occasional brief intervals for reforming with counterattacks.

Twelve different enemy assaults have been made within a few hours preceding the correspondent's visit to headquarters in the field, but the Italian line had not yielded a foot and General Gorgio, while grave because of the terrific struggle against the tremendous odds, was calm and confident that the defensive line would hold until reinforcements were swung into the fighting.

Solid ranks of Franco-British infantry with artillery supply trains have been seen by the correspondent today within sound of the battle on the Italian northern line. They have been on the march for eight days.

BREEDERS TO SOLVE THE FEED PROBLEMS

Madison, Wis., Nov. 26.—With the appointment of a war committee by the officials of the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association added force and talent has been thrown into the solution into food and feed problems which are reaching an acute stage.

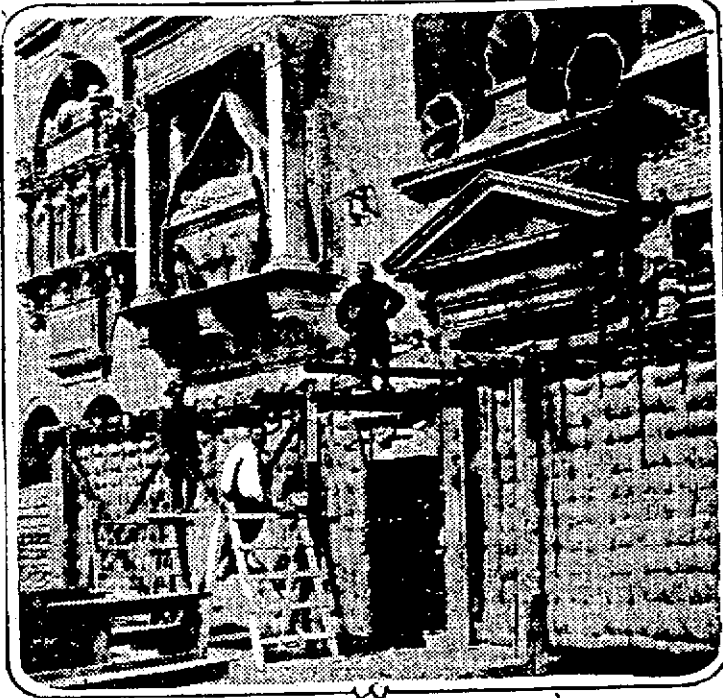

This committee composed wholly of experienced feeders and handlers of livestock will work in co-operation with the agricultural committee of the state council of defense, the staff of the college of agriculture and experiment station and the Wisconsin members of the National Livestock Mobilization commission. The membership of this committee consists of James Dillon, Mondovi, representing swine interests; Ralph Reynolds, Lodi, beef; William P. Reuk, Sun Prairie, sheep; Walter L. Houser, Mondovi, horses and S. H. Bird, South Byron, dairy cattle.

A joint meeting of this committee with the state council of defense will be held in Madison Tuesday, at which time efforts will be made to connect directly Wisconsin's supply of light hogs with the soft corn, which is going to waste in the corn belt states.

Backed by the beef breeding interests of the state and given the assurance of continued aid on the part of the officials of county and district fair associations, the sponsors for Wisconsin's boys' and girls' baby beef contests are predicting larger and better results in 1918 than those secured in the season just closed. An executive committee has the matter in charge and will meet soon to complete the plans for next year's work.

Following are the men who will serve the state in the interests of quick meats: John Robinson, Evansville; Ralph Reynolds, and Walter L. Houser, representing the state breeders' association; George Carpenter, Baraboo, the Shorthorn interests; Clifford Thompson, Lake Geneva, Hereford; W. A. Connel, Menomonee Falls, Aberdeen Angus; and James W. Martin, Gotham, the International Livestock exposition.

A PRESSING ROAD PROBLEM

The pressing road problem of the country today is not so much to provide money for our highways and byways as it is to awaken the average taxpayer to a knowledge of the business side of the work for which he is contributing so liberally, so that he will enlist the help of the ablest business men and the services of competent engineers and supervisors in carrying it on. The cost of road construction has been increasing rapidly during the last two years, and it is more important than ever before to develop an enlightened public opinion in favor of a businesslike administration of road affairs, such as already exists in some localities where the people have given the subject the attention it deserves.

NEW JERSEY IN ROAD WORK.

First of All States to Develop Good Roads Movement.

In a statement recently issued by the department of agriculture New Jersey is credited with being the first state to create an agency for the development of good roads.

"The first of these agencies," says the department, "was created in 1891 in New Jersey, and now some form of highway department exists in every state except Indiana, South Carolina and Texas. Since their inception these departments had expended to Jan. 1, 1916, an aggregate of $205,350,825 in state funds for road and bridge construction, maintenance and administration. They had constructed over 50,000 miles of roads in co-operation with the states. More than 40,000 miles of these roads were surfaced.

"The falling off in the value of road work performed by statute and convict labor was from $20,000,000 in 1904, when the total road cost expenditures were $80,000,000, to about $15,000,000 in 1915, when the total expenditures had grown to $282,000,000. This was a reduction from 25 per cent of the total in the former year to less than 5 1/2 per cent of the total in 1915.

"An increase in the use of better and more expensive types of roads also is shown by the recently compiled statistics. This development has been due in large part to the great increase in automobile traffic. It is estimated that there are now approximately 2,500,000 automobiles in use on the roads of the country, or one car for every mile of road. This present motor traffic is in excess of traffic of all sorts twelve years ago.

"The cash road and bridge expenditures of the United States averaged only $28 per mile of rural roads in 1904. In 1915 this average had grown to $109 per mile. New Jersey led all other states both in 1904 and in 1915, with $221 and $475 per mile respectively. Nevada made the least expenditure in both years, $3.72 per mile in 1904 and $17 per mile in 1915."

DEBT TO BETTER ROADS.

Good Highways Increase the Value of Farm Lands.

In the results of inquiries made by federal officers who are supervising the use of $85,000,000 appropriated for the improvement of roads there is nothing more instructive and interesting than the proof that road betterment has greatly increased the market value of farm land, says the New York Times. A careful investigation was made in eight representative counties, covering a period of five years. The record of many actual transactions shows that the selling price of farm land within one mile of the improved roads has been largely increased. In one county by 184 per cent, the additions to value being from two to three times the cost of the road work.

The law which appropriates $85,000,000 to be expended in five years, with the condition that states spend an equal sum in carrying out an improvement program, has been in effect for six months. While only one state has met all the requirements of it, others have made a beginning, and all will eventually undertake to do their share. In several states delay is due to the need of new legislation. Careful preparation has been made by the department of agriculture at Washington for expert supervision and inspection of the improvements for which $100,000,000 will be paid. It should be noted that the statute requires local governments to maintain the new roads in good condition.

ALIEN CONDITIONS.

This nation is at war. We know it by the daily headlines, but the question of the alien conditions is not so obvious. The alien conditions are the conditions of the alien in the United States.

The United States is at war with Germany, and it is allied with the United Kingdom, France, and the United States. The alien conditions are the conditions of the alien in the United States.

proscribes, and pay for the services of the priests who will look after these boys. When you stop to consider that thirty to forty per cent of the enlisted men of the army are of the Catholic faith, the need for this fund can be understood. The Knights of Columbus tents or huts are open to all soldiers, race or religion not being considered. The sum to be raised is not large and it is to be hoped that Janesville will make as good a showing in this latest patriotic move as it has in the previous demands made upon its treasury.

THE SERVICE FLAG.

From the homes of various families in Rock county should be displayed the service flag, with a star for every member of the household who is now in the service of the United States. It is an honor to have a member of the home circle with Uncle Sam and the whole household of millions of Americans behind him. Some are too old to go, others disabled or tied down by family and business matters, so they can't, and the law will take care of the slackers, the men who will not go and whose absence would never be missed. Get a service flag and display it. You have the right and are doing so. One star for every member of the family who is in the service, no matter what branch.

Some people are so made up that they will spend a hundred dollars to add some superfluous luxury to already lavish homes, and only fire to give the weary and suffering boys in the trenches a little fragment of home comfort at the Y. M. C. A. hut.

The man who is so sure that the United States can't win the war, is usually the same one who a year ago wanted the United States to stop munition shipments so that our present allies couldn't win it.

The Germans may find that they can be killed just as conveniently on Italian soil where they have no elaborate trench system, as in their concrete shelters on the western front.

After the news editor exhausts his gray matter trying to reconcile two absolutely conflicting dispatches from the Russian front, in comes another declaring both of them were lies.

The Quakers must be deeply touched by the large number of penitent converts who in these times are hastening to join their non-resistance church.

The people who heard food to get higher prices, are probably the same ones who think it is strange they have to pay higher for everything they buy.

American idea of winning independence from tyranny: "Stand by your altars and your fires." Russian idea of same: "Talk by your altars and your fires."

When the Germans get so that they can't sink any more merchant ships, they will then no doubt abandon the practice for humanitarian reasons.

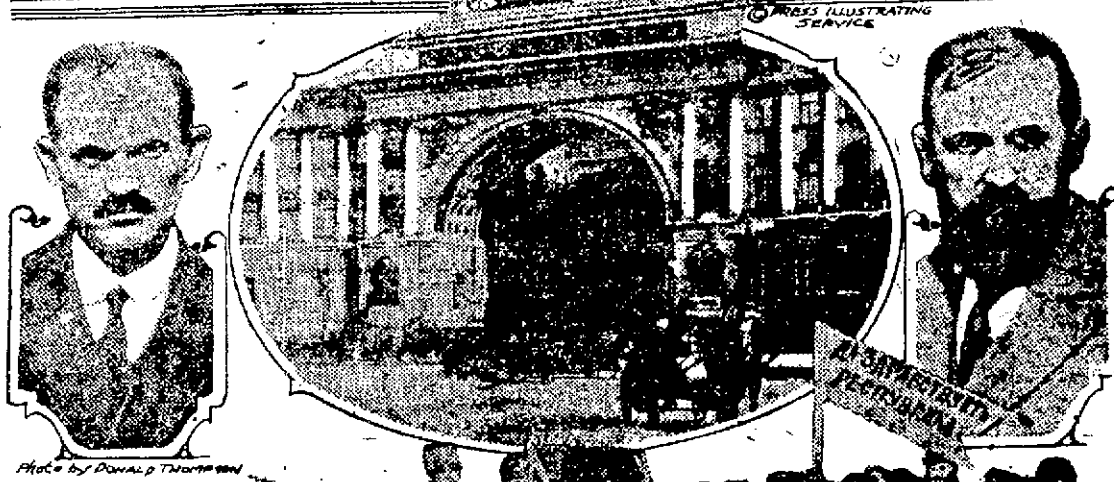

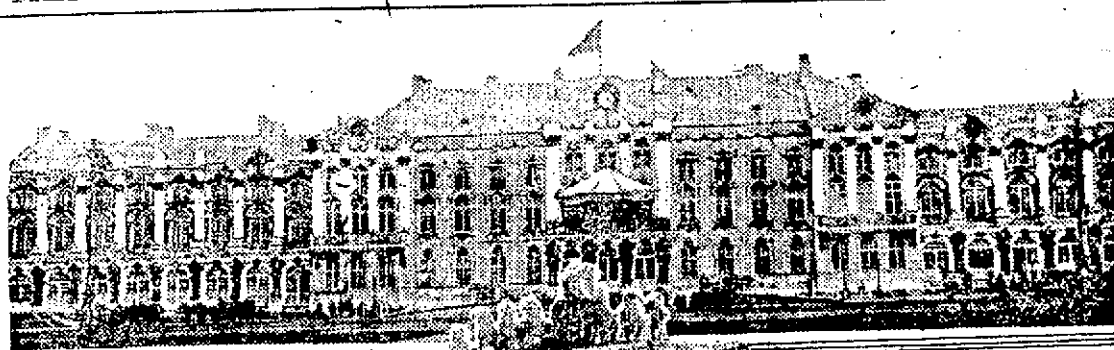

The Germans won't worry much about military defeats, if they can keep on stirring up labor troubles here at home in America.

After denouncing the food scarcity, a lot of us will proceed to order about three times as much as is necessary for Thanksgiving dinner.

MENTIONED IN LATE DISPATCHES FROM RUSSIAN CAPITAL

Tsarko-Selo palace (at the top); Leon Trotsky (left); Tauride palace, Nikolai Lenin, and the former czar's automobile, which is now being used by revolutionary leaders in Petrograd.

The magnificent Tsarko-Selo palace, which was formerly the home of the czar, has been mentioned several times in recent dispatches from Russia. A few days ago Kerensky was reported in control of the palace, which was taken by his government months ago. Leon Trotsky and Nikolai Lenin have received a great deal of attention in late dispatches, but their power is now reported on the wane. When they got control of the city they imprisoned several of Kerensky's ministers in the Tauride palace. The former czar's automobile has been fitted up by the revolutionists, who now own it, so that it can be used in the deep snow this winter.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest.

AMERICA.
God has been good to men. He gave His Only Son their souls to save, and then he made a second gift. Which from their dreary lives should lift
From the tyrant's yoke and set them free
From all who'd throttle liberty.
He gave America to men, and then
Fashioned this land we love, and then
Deep in her forests sowed the seed
Which to serve man's earthly need.

When wisps of smoke first upwards curled
From pilgrim fires, upon the world
Unnoticed, and unseen began
God's second work of grace for man.
Here where the savages roamed and fought
God sowed the seed of nobler thought;
Here to the land we love to claim,
Here has been cradled all that's best
In every human mind and breast.

For full four hundred years and more
Our land has stretched her welcoming shore
To weary feet from soils afar;
Soul shackled serfs of king and czar.
Have journeyed here and toiled and sung
And talked of freedom to their young
And God above has smiled to see
This precious work of liberty,
And watched this second gift He gave.

And there lives men to save.
The dreary lives of men to save.
The dreary lives of men to save.
The dreary lives of men to save.

And now when, liberty's at bay,
And blood-stained tyrants force the fray,
Worn warriors, battling for the right,
Crushed by oppressions' cruel might
Hear in the dark through which they grope
America's glad cry of hope,
Mankind's liberty is not to die,
World-wide shall human lives be free,
America has crossed the sea!

America! the land we love!

U. S. MUST INCREASE HER FOREIGN TRADE

(By Associated Press)
New York, Nov. 26.—American industries must be stimulated to high production and America's foreign trade must develop to enable this country to use its full strength in winning the war, declares the National Foreign Trade Council in a report submitted today to President Wilson.

"Practically all the money in the allied portions of the world, and most of that held by neutrals, in time can be made available for our war effort," says the council.

The report was drawn up in an effort by the council to aid the government in the fixing of commodity prices and in the taxation of business profits. These problems are described by the council as perhaps the most serious and difficult the world has ever encountered in its relation to business interests.

Asserting that in an ideal plan for price fixing and profit taking, the maintenance of a high level of production and a low price should be the controlling consideration, the report says:

"If the formal determination of the war is to be measured to any extent by the relative economic power of the belligerents—and, of course, it will be so measured—the existence of the things which money can buy will be of far greater importance than the possession of money itself."

This leads up to the statement that most of the money in the allied and neutral world can be made available for our war emergency by proper maintenance of foreign trade. For it is foreign trade, says the report, that is the source from which the greater portion of our gold must come, and from which our national gold reserve will derive its greatest security.

Foreign trade also provides the possibility of keeping the entire national energy at all times employed in profitable production by creating a foreign demand for products for which there would be no demand at home.

Effectiveness of American participation in the war, says the council, depends on the maintenance of production in practically all lines at the maximum capacity, and the maintenance of foreign trade during the war is a most efficient means of preventing a disturbance of production, insuring funds with which to meet the demands of government in taxation or loans; stabilizing conditions of industry and maintaining the economic structure of the nation.

The council reasons the council recommends to the administration and congress the co-operation of its efforts at price fixing and taxation on national production, insuring funds with which to meet the demands of government in taxation or loans; stabilizing conditions of industry and maintaining the economic structure of the nation.

HERTLING'S CHOICE MEANS KAISER IS STILL CONFIDENT, VIEW IN WASHINGTON

Count George von Hertling.

The announcement of the naming of Count von Hertling of Bavaria as the new German chancellor was received in Washington as fresh evidence of the great task ahead of the United States. The selection of Count von Hertling is officially taken as indicating the supreme confidence of the Kaiser that he has complete mastery of the internal situation, and his purpose to crush with an iron hand all peace talk that does not receive its inspiration from the German war lords.

UNIFORMS FOR STATE GUARD HAVE ARRIVED

Will be Distributed at Regular Drill Period to be Held This Evening.

Benefit Dance Planned for Thursday Evening.

Members of the Sixteenth Separate Company, Wisconsin State Guard, will receive their new blue dress uniforms at the regular drill which will be held this evening at the armory, starting at eight o'clock. Although the uniforms were ordered sent over a week ago, they did not arrive until this morning.

Because of the necessity for a company fund which will care for many of the expenses which are incurred to carry on the drills, a benefit dance will be given by the state guard on Thursday evening. Each member of the company will take a share of the tickets to dispose of. A jazz orchestra has been secured to furnish the music.

What He Wanted to Find Out. At a certain wedding the happy pair were about to retire, when the younger brother of the bride struck his glass with a knife and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, as the young couple are about to leave us, I will cut my remarks short. I invite each and all of you to take up your glasses, rise to your feet, and—see if one of you has not been sitting on my new hat!"

A TREATMENT FOR NERVES

Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her.

West Danby, N. Y.—"I have had my life until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nerves and for female troubles and it straightened me out in good shape. I work nearly all the time, as we live on a farm and I have four girls. I do all my sewing and other work with their help, so it shows that I stand it real well. I took the Compound when my ten year old daughter came and it helped me a lot. I keep it in the house all the time and recommend it."—Mrs. DEWITT SINGE-BARTON, West Danby, N. Y.

Sleeplessness, nervousness, irritability, backache, headaches, dragging sensations, all point to female derangements which may be overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from choice roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

A Romance of Adventure

different directions and raced for the arena, each with a curved sword in either hand. The yelling changed back into the chant, only louder than before, and by that much more terrible. Cymbals crashed. The music box resumed its measured grating of the "Marsellaise." And the hundred began an Afridi sword dance, then which there is nothing wilder in all the world. Its like can only be seen under the shadow of the "Hills."

Ismael seemed obsessed by the spirit of hades laid loose—drawn by it, as by a magnet, although subsequent events proved him not to have been altogether without a plan. He got up, with his eyes fixed on the dance, and thrust himself and King next to some Orakzal Pathans, elbowing savagely to right and left to make room. And patience proved scarce. The nearest man reached for the ever-ready Pathan knife, but paused in the instant that his knife licked clear. From a swift side glance at King's face he swung to a full stare, his scowl slowly giving place to a grin as he recognized him.

"Allah!" He drove the long blade back again.

"Well met, hakim! See—the wound heals nicely!"

Baring his shoulder under the smelly sheepskin coat, he lifted a bandage gingerly to show the clean opening out of which King had coaxed a bullet the day before. It looked wholesome and ready to heal.

"Name thy reward, hakim! We Orakzal Pathans forget no favors!" (Now that boast was a true one.)

King nodded more to himself than to the other man. He needed, for instance, a very much to know who was planning a jihad, and who "Bull-with-a-beard" might be; but it was not safe to confide just yet in a chance-made acquaintance. A very fair acquaintance with some phases of the East had taught him that names such as Bull-with-a-beard are often almost photographically descriptive. He rose to his feet to look. A blind man can talk, but it takes trained eyes to gather information.

The din had increased, and it was safe to stand up and stare, because all eyes were on the madness in the middle. There were plenty besides himself who stood to get a better view, and he had to dodge from side to side to see between them.

"I'm not to doctor his men. Therefore it's a fair guess that he and I are to be kept apart. Therefore he'll be as far away from me now as possible, supposing he's here."

Reasoning along that line, he tried to see the faces on the far side, but the problem was to see over the dancers' heads. He succeeded presently, for the Orakzal Pathan saw what he wanted, and in his anxiety to be agreeable, reached forward to pull back a box from between the ranks in front. Its owners offered instant fight, but made no further objection when they saw who wanted it and why. King wondered at their sudden change of mind.

He found a man soon who was not interested in the dancing, but who had eyes and ears apparently for everything and everybody else. He watched him for ten minutes, until at last their eyes met. Then he sat down and kicked the box back to its owners. He touched the Pathan's broad shoulder. The man smiled and bent his turbaned head to listen.

"Opposite," said King, "nearly exactly opposite—three rows from the front, counting the front row as one—there sits a man with a black beard, whose shoulders are like a bull's. As he sits he bangs his head between them. Look! See! Tell me truly what his name is!"

The Pathan got up and strode forward to stand on the box, kicking aside the elbows that leaned on it and laughing when the owners cursed him. He stood on it and stared for five minutes, counting deliberately three times over, striking a finger on the palm of his hand to check himself.

"Bull-with-a-beard!" he announced at last, dropping back into place beside King. "Muhammad Anim. The mullah Muhammad Anim."

German once, at Nukla. He ate pigment and washed it down with wine. Are such men sons of the Prophet? Wait and watch, say I!"

"Money?" said King. "And should no more money come?"

This was courteous conversation and received as such—many a long league removed from curiosity.

"Who am I to foretell a man's kismet? I know what I know, and I think what I think! I know thee, hakim, for a gentle fellow, who hurt me almost not at all in the drawing of a bullet out of my flesh. What knowest thou about me?"

"That I will dress the wound for thee again!"

Artless statements are as useful in their way as artless questions. Let the guile lie deep, that is all.

"Nay, nay! For she said nay! Shall I fall foul of her, for the sake of a new bandage?"

The temptation was terrific to ask why she had given that order, but King resisted it; and presently it occurred to the Pathan that his own theories on the subject might be of interest.

"She will use thee for a reward," he said. "He who shall win and keep her favor may have his enemies may rot."

"Does she call the mullah Muhammad Anim enemy?" King asked him.

"Nay, she never mentions him by name."

CHAPTER XIII.

The dance went on for fifteen minutes yet, but then—quite unexpectedly—all the arena guards together fired a volley at the roof, and the dance stopped as if every dancer had been hit. Panting—foaming at the mouth, some of them—the dancers ran to their seats and set the crowd surging again, leaving the arena empty of all but the guards.

Now a man stood up near the edge of the crowd whom King recognized; and recognition brought no joy with it. The mullah without hair or eyelashes, who had admitted him and his party through the mosque into the caves, strode out to the middle of the arena all alone, strutting and swaggering. He recalled the man's last words and drew no consolation from them; Either.

"Many have entered! Some went out by a different road!"

Cold chills went down his back. All at once Ismael's manner became unencouraging. He ceased to make a fuss over the dancer and began to eye King sideways, until at last he seemed unable to contain the malice that would well forth.

"At the gate there were only words," he whispered. "Here in this cavern men wait for proof!"

He licked his teeth suggestively, as a wolf does when he contemplates a meal. Then, as an afterthought, as though ashamed, "I love thee! Thou art a man after my own heart! But I am her man! Wait and see!"

The mullah in the arena, blinking with his lashed eyes, held both arms up for silence in the attitude of a Christian priest blessing a congregation. The great cavern grew still, and only the river could be heard sucking hungrily between the smooth stone banks.

"God is great!" the mullah howled. The crowd thundered in echo to him.

"I educated one of my boys to be a doctor and the other to be a lawyer," said Farmer Corntassel.

"You should be very proud of them," announced the visitor. "That seems like an excellent arrangement."

"I don't know about that," replied the aged agriculturist. "It looks as though it was going to break up the family. I got run into by a locomotive, and one of 'em wants to cure me and the other wants me to go lame so he can sue for damages."

over an hour ago," said the assistant, contritely.

"Then," said the dignified dame, "I will wait for the next."
